COE BEGINS WORK ON FEDERAL HEALTH AND WELLNESS INITIATIVE

Rockville, Md. (January 20, 2010) – The Center for Organizational Excellence, Inc. (COE), a leading consulting firm working with government agencies to improve organizational effectiveness, announced today it will provide Project Management Office (PMO) Support for the Federal Employee Worksite Health & Wellness Initiative. This initiative is a joint effort of the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), General Services Administration (GSA), and the Department of the Interior (DOI). COE is partnering with AON (www.aon.com) and Carney, Inc. (www.teamcarney.com) to establish a comprehensive health and wellness program for the federal employees.

“We are honored to be working on this very important initiative that is designed to positively impact the health and wellness of our country’s Federal workforce,” said Connie Freeman, Vice President of COE’s Consulting Solutions Practice. “This is an exciting opportunity for COE and our consulting and training partners to give back to the Federal community by helping to design, implement, and evaluate creative and forward-thinking health and wellness strategies that promote positive behavior change and encourage participation in health and wellness initiatives.”

Through PMO support and expert consultation, the COE team will support the goal of the Federal wellness initiative to improve the health and well-being of Federal employees and increase productivity by building a culture of wellness founded on awareness, intervention and education across the agencies selected for this pilot program.
